Percy Page's Commercial Grads are certainly a "wonderful" basketball team. The way they recently overwhelmed crack teams from the United States demonstrates their superior skill and team work. This man Page must be a great basketball coach and team manager. He has trained many a provincial basketball team over years of championship play. Today he has an entirely different team than that which he had a few years ago, yet they still dominate the ladies' basketball world. A record like this is almost unbearable. Mr. Page, you are the coach supreme.

The Women's Institute of Raymond recently put on a "Made in Alberta" show. Every article served was prepared or made in Alberta. Quite a good advertising stunt.

Canada's new airship seaport, Port Churchill, will probably be opened for settlement next year. It is not expected to have a real estate or business boom as the federal government controls all the land in the townsite, and has announced its intention of discouraging anything of the nature of a boom. Anyways, it is not particularly desirable as a place of residence. Engineers recommend that for a man with a family a five months residence in the summer is all they would care to enjoy.

Farmers in the Winnipeg district of Manitoba are shelling grain. The States as an experiment in best growing and marketing. Here's another chance for the "protected home industries" government to help the sorely pressed prairie farmer.

The only country we have heard of where the Canadian dollar is at a premium is the West Indies. The Canadian dollar in these semi-tropical countries is at a 10 per cent premium, and American coins is at a twenty per cent premium.

Thirty years ago the Surveyor, Sir Thomas Edison organized an expedition to search for nickel in northern Ontario. He planned to use the metal in a new storage battery he had developed. Edison gave up the search when he was within four of the present Faraday mine workings, one of the great nickel mines in Canada. Success is sometimes almost within our grasp when we do not realize it.

"Cossack, Dry Land Alfalfa," is the subject of an article appearing in this week's issue of the Stratford Standard. This plant originated in Siberia, and was brought into this country by the famous United States explorer, Comstock. It is said to have "great drought resisting qualities, and is said to thrive in a country with an annual rainfall of only 10 inches. The plant has a root system penetrate to a great depth and hence it has access to moisture denied other short rooted plants. The article published in the Stratford Standard was written by W. H. Hallows. Mr. Hallows writes very enthusiastically about cossack. He says it will yield a good crop under conditions that are most unfavorable to alfalfa. Peaving is located in the Peace River country.

REMEMBRANCE DAY OBSERVED IN BASSANO

Community Services in Knox Church Attended by Large Number of Citizens

Remembrance Day, Wednesday, Nov. 11, was fittingly observed in Bassano when a special service was held in Knox Church at 10:30 in the morning. It was a community service and was attended by a large congregation including many war veterans.

Mrs. W. E. Sambooke played an organ prelude followed by prayers by Rev. C. G. McLean. Mr. Casen, Harrison, and Mr. Norton, who were followed by an address given by Wm. McLaws, local barrister and a great war veteran. Mr. McLaws spoke of the sacrifice of the soldiers Canada sent to fight for the cause of democracy, paid tribute to those who had fallen in the fields of Flanders, and expressed a hope that peace would continue in the world.

Two minutes silence was observed at 11 o'clock. The "Last Post" was sounded on the bugle by W. J. Redmond.

COUNTES News

COUNTES, Nov. 10.—A number of Countessies attended the sale at Countes on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan have moved to the old church place for the winter.

Miss Mrs. Hays and daughter, and Emily Ferguson, motored to Calgary on Friday of last week.

Grace Ferguson is back to school again after several days' illness.

Rev. F. C. McCrea of Bassano, was caused to be ill this afternoon when his Dodge car was suddenly wrecked Saturday when it turned over twice during a rather steep embankment near Countes. The occupants were badly shaken up, and were taken to Bassano for treatment.

Mrs. H. Cowan entertained a number of friends on Saturday in honor of her daughter, Koneta's return.

OSTROMYELITIS

Suffering crippled and sometimes death results in the patient we pay for neglect or delay in securing treatment for certain conditions. Early treatment is truly preventive in that it prevents the development of the most serious and sometimes fatal conditions.

It is in the early treatment of tuberculosis and cancer that we place our hope for dealing with cases of these diseases. Early treatment can be a major cause of death because it is not brought under treatment early, or worst of all, it is treated with a dose of castor oil.

Osteomyelitis is an acute infection which occurs in a bone. It develops quickly and is, each year, the cause of loss of life or extensive injury because treatment is not secured at once. This disease of the bone, which develops rapidly, the delay of even a few hours leads to serious or fatal consequences.

Pains in a child's arm or legs should always be regarded seriously.

This is no excuse for failing to have children seen by a physician.

Pains in no one area but just because they are growing.

When a child has pains in the extremities there often is no bone examined and to find out definitely whether or not there is a cause without delay is what the cause of the pain. Pain does not occur without a cause. It is the danger signal that nature uses to inform us that something is wrong. Osteomyelitis can usually be diagnosed by an injury which may be only slight. This injury apparently lowers the resistance of the affected area, and germs which are not the type of those causing the injury have their chance to gain a foothold. The germs multiply rapidly, first of all causing inflammation, then pus and finally destruction of tissue. Unless proper treatment is given promptly the patient is simply overwhelmed with the poisons as a result of the activity of the disease.

The germs are carried to the part affected in the blood stream. They may come from any part of the body in which they have been lodged, such as a bone, an intestinal ulcer, or an abscess on the skin. When the germs are there, and when the opportunity offers, they cause terrific damage if treatment does not intervene.

With the bones, the pain comes on suddenly and is severe. The most common location is near a joint of one of the long bones. The spot is tender and there is fever. It is at this time that treatment should be started. Let us consider some swelling and the usual signs and symptoms of infection with the serious results of having delayed treatment.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

FEEDING PULLETS FOR WINTER EGG PRODUCTION (Experimental Farm Note)

During the late fall and winter months as a general rule egg prices are very much higher than at any other time throughout the year. The poultry raiser who can therefore, if he gets good production, then it will pay him well. Fall and winter production is the keynote to greatest profits. As the great bulk of the small flocks will be kept for egg purposes, making production during the fall and winter months, the pullets are left practically as the only source of fresh eggs at that time. Thus the chief concern of the poultry keeper should be to give the pullets the best possible attention in order that they may lay well and to have their young stock hatched before the new season begins in the fall. Early hatched pullets that start to lay in October or November are the ones to keep for egg production. It is the early hatched pullets that are in good health condition that will produce eggs during the late fall and winter months.

Pullets require careful feeding during the fall and winter to secure maximum production. The diet should be better on a variety of feeds providing those are palatable. Laying pullets should be fed a ration of scratch grains and mashed meat food, green food, mineral food, grain and water.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta, a dry mash mixture kept in hoppers constantly before the flock, is made up of equal parts of bran, shortstraw barley, meal and finely ground oats to which is added 10 per cent of decent beef scrap. Milk replaces the meat scrap when the flock can have access to all they will drink. When milk is available only part of the diet should be replaced by feed. To this mixture is added 2 per cent bone meal, about one per cent fine table salt, and 2 per cent cod liver oil.

A home made scratch grain consisting of equal parts of wheat, oat and barley is scattered in a deep litter of straw in the morning and again in the afternoon, a heavier feed being given in the afternoon. This diet is good for the birds to exercise. Grains and oilseeds, either leafy leaves or mangels, carrots, cabbage, and sprouted oats, are fed to the flocks.

The inspector's report is actually inaccurate, and may have the effect of increasing fire insurance rates, or preventing a reduction of the rates now in existence.

When the association's inspector was here he informed us he had found that the water pressure really wasn't the town engineer had been making some adjustments on the water pump, and while he was doing this the water supply and the pressure were cut off for a short time.

It was at this time the inspector made his test. Normally the pressure is about 80 pounds per square inch, and it very seldom fails far below this figure.

The committee reported by the inspector as missing is actually here and ready for use, but possibly due to hurrying through his work the inspector overlooked it.

The inspector's report of a great deal of water leaking in the business section of the town is certainly not correct.

Past experience has proven that Bassano has very efficient fire fighting equipment and a very capable fire brigade.

A fire in the main business street of the town, even in any of the wooden buildings, has little chance of spreading to any of the adjoining buildings.

In past years fires have broken out in the old Powers Jewelry store, the Gem Theatre, in every case the fire brigade was promptly on the scene and soon had several streams of water playing on the fire.

Also, in every case, the fire was put out from doors, adding bulldogs or wire extinguishers before it destroyed the building in which it started.

In wooden frame buildings

this could only be possible with first class fire fighting apparatus and a good fire brigade.

The inspector's report is most unfair to the town. It should be recited if we are to receive fair treatment from the fire insurance companies.

Canada and the United States may have a peace garden at Riding Mountain Park, Manitoba, but the acracy with which the two countries throw up tariff barriers against each other's trade is ample evidence of the economic war which exists between them.

YOUR STANDARD OF LIVING

For all we know, some Mongolian landowner living miserably in a smoky felt tent, may be the richest man in the world. For standards of living are not based merely on wealth. They are based rather on the way people use wealth. The reason why Canadian standards are considered highest in the world is because the great majority of Canadians have at their command all the things necessary to a civilized and cultured mode of living.

Any housewife in Canada, even of most moderate means, can draw upon the use of most of the world for her own private use!

You may study and enjoy outright at very small expense, music . . . drama . . . art in all its forms. You may review the smartest styles each day as they appear in the pages of newspapers. You may select household furnishings, modern conveniences, heat units, refrigerated food in luxurious and unusual variety, cosmetics, dress, foods, automobiles, anything, in fact, that is commonly looked upon as part of the Canadian scene . . . you may select these things leisurely and conveniently by merely studying the advertisements as they appear in the newspapers.

STAY WITH THE WHEAT POOL

In commencing on the delivery of wheat to Pool elevators in the prairie provinces, The North-Western Canada Pool, for the Pool movement, says: "There is reason to believe that all three Pools have up to the present enjoyed their usual quota of grain handling in the country. Such conditions in a year of short crops and keen country buying bespeak the loyalty of the western farmer to the organization he has built up."

The solidarity of purpose manifested by the grain growers of the west wins grudging praise even from opponents. Do not let us up for a minute.

See that All Your Grain goes to Pool Elevators. You can pool your wheat or sell for cash at current market prices.

ALBERTA WHEAT POOL

A true full flavor that lasts. For a myriad of tiny bubbles keep on dancing to the surface long after other Ginger Ales have lost their sparkle.

WINTER SERVICE

Winter car service means a number of things. It means filling your radiator with Frost Cope so there will be no danger of a freeze up. It means filling up with winter oil so proper lubrication will be possible. It means checking over tires, and possibly getting a new spare so you won't be delayed by tire trouble on the road. It means tightening bolts and nuts, and making the closed models free from draft to make it more comfortable for the driver and passengers.

And to make winter driving a real pleasure you should install a heater. Ask us about them.

Demonstrate Economy in Change of Spark Plugs

In a unique demonstration at a meeting of the Pittsburgh section of the Society of Automotive Engineers, it was demonstrated that one out of every 10 gallons of gasoline was wasted when spark plugs are used longer than 10,000 miles. An automobile engine in which were a set of spark plugs that had been used 10,160 miles, was placed before the 100 engineers in attendance. The engine, with a new flywheel attached, was put into operation, the flowmeter measuring the amount of gasoline used at different speeds. Then the engine was stopped, new spark plugs installed and gasoline consumption measured. The same demonstration has previously been made many times with an automobile under actual operating conditions, but the flowmeter test has created an unusual degree of interest among engineers.

Time to Buy a Car

Impenetrable snows, automobiles and the disappearance of cars by the majority of motorists combine to present many advantages in buying new cars during the fall and early winter season instead of waiting until the spring. These numerous advantages give buyers "two years comparative few owners drove their cars throughout the year," say the engineers. "Now this is standard practice due to winter cars and the presence of clean wheels when made after a snowfall. When paint and varnish were used to finish automobile bodies, the severe cold weather had a tendency to crack and mar surfaces. The acquisition of tools are easier and not affected by climatic changes. In fact, the cold weather of winter is less harmful than is the hot summer sun. Another advantage in buying a new car during the fall and winter is the best condition for the heavier strains of cold weather driving. Starting is easier and the electrical system is stronger than one that has been used for nearly a year. Tires have a better grip when making skidding on icy roads. Then, with a car purchased now, an owner enters the spring and summer driving season with his auto considerably.

Are You Prepared For Winter?

Is your car ready for winter driving? A car can give its owner good service during the winter months only when it is in first class running order. Winter driving demands more from a car, and therefore you liable to have more car trouble in winter than in summer.

You can avoid most of this trouble and enjoy comfortable winter driving by having your car checked over and adjustments made to carburetor and electrical system before severe weather arrives.
